[4 part message complete]

[Cont. of message omitted].

1. In the last two months Roman MOSZULSKI [MOSHUL'SKI] (henceforward "CANUCK [KANUK]"), the Director of PAT [ii], has tried several times to get in touch with SERGEJ [iii]. SERGEJ at first ignored [him] [a] but recently the correspondent Johannes STEEL [JOHANNES STEEL] (henceforward "DICKY [DIKI]") told him that CANUCK had pro-Russian sympathies and was seeking contact with us - in view of this DICKY advised him to make the acquaintance of S. [iv]. D. [v] said that he had known C. [K.] [vi] for three years, during which C. had always sharply criticised the Polish Fascists and had wanted to give up his job but D. had advised [him] [a] to remain at his post where, albeit partially, he could counteract Fascist propaganda. Making use of his cover [b], SERGEJ met C. through the good offices of D.. Having talked for a few minutes, they agreed on another meeting alone. C. told SERGEJ that he understood that the future of his country depended upon friendly relations with us the establishment of good-neighbourly relations between POLAND and the USSR, he stated that, having thought over the full seriousness and the possible consequences of his step, he was putting himself at our disposal and was ready to give the Communists all the information he had and to consult us on questions concerning his activities. C. emphasized that he could win our confidence only by deeds and [realised] [a] that for such work D.'s recommendation was in our view insufficient. In reply he was told that we welcomed people well-disposed towards us and that naturally the proof of his sincerity would depend upon himself.
